AGU will conduct a Japanese placement test before students' arrival. Based on the placement test results, the class level will be determined by the faculty members in charge. 2) A certain level of Japanese proficiency (Japanese CEFR--A2 Level or equivalent) is required to register for credit-earning Japanese language courses. 3) Non-credit-earning Japanese language courses for beginners taught in English are offered at the Aoyama Campus (free of charge).
Course Syllabuses	http://syllabus.aoyama.ac.jp/ * For every School Year, course information and the English course list are updated at the end of March.
Course Information for Exchange Students (Undergraduate)	https://www.aoyama.ac.jp/en/admission/exchange/course.html Exchange Students can take courses at the Aoyama and Sagamihara Campuses, except for some classes, such as the accredited Japanese language class. However, please note that commuting between the campuses takes about 80 to 90 minutes. https://www.aoyama.ac.jp/outline/campus/?wovn=en
Course Restrictions for Exchange Students	Physical education classes, Teacher's Certificate Courses, foreign language courses for degree-seeking students, some courses offered by the Department of Education, and courses that are not open to exchange students.
Nomination of a Graduate Student	If a student wants to enroll in one of AGU's Master's Programs, they must belong to a graduate school at the time of application. Graduate students may be accepted on a limited basis, subject to approval from the graduate school based on the student's academic objectives and backgrounds. Please contact the International Center before nominating a graduate student. Some Graduate Schools require a high level of Japanese language proficiency (JLPT N1 level). A few, such as International Politics, Economics & Communication, Aoyama Business School (MBA), and the Graduate School of Business, do not. NOTE: Graduate students from our partner institutions are eligible to enroll in AGU's undergraduate program. However, they can only take courses for undergraduate students and are NOT allowed to take classes for graduate students in this case.

Nomination of a student who receives reasonable academic accommodations	If the nominated student is receiving reasonable academic accommodations at their home university due to a disability or medical condition, please contact the International Center, to the extent possible, at least four weeks before the nomination deadline. AGU will assess if we can provide the reasonable accommodations the student needs. Please note that there may be a case where AGU is unable to accept the student, depending on the reasonable accommodations they require.
Minimum Number of Credits	14 credits per semester (undergraduates)
Course Registration	Register online during the registration period, and attend the course registration orientation upon arrival.
